One summer evening as I was making dinner, there was a knock at the door. I 1 it and saw a truly bad-looking man. But his voice was 2 as he said. "Good evening. I come to see if you have a 3 for just one night. I came for a treatment this morning from eastern shore, and there's no bus till next morning." He told me he had been hunting (寻找) but with no 4 . I told him we would find him a bed, but to rest on the porch (门廊). I went inside and prepared dinner. When we were ready, I asked him if he would like to 5 us. "No, thank you. I have plenty." When I had 6 the dinner, I went out to talk with him. It didn't take a long time to see that this old man had oversize (过大的) heart crowded that tiny body. He told me he fished for a living to 7 his daughter, her five children, and her husband, who was hopelessly disabled from a back injury. At bedtime, we 8 a bed in the children's room for him. On his next trip, as a gift, he brought a big fish and some fresh oysters (牡蛎) I had never seen. In the years he came to 9 overnight with us, and there was never a time he did not bring us some fish or vegetables from his garden.

I know our family will always be thankful to have known him, from him we learn what was to accept the bad without a complaint and the good 10 thanks.
